If you find yourself slipping, give yourself a punch, and jump into the work with twice as much energy.

Here's hoping that none of you will want to leave school, but that you will all work harder to attain a high standard.

THE CAULD BLAST
The winter season's here, I know;
But not because of sleet and snow
Or trees with mournful barren branches
Oppressed by glacial avalanches;
The testimony's clear, I think,
By just observing orange drink.
It's sold indoors instead of out—
Which proves the point without a doubt.

WASHINGTON TRIM BY PIEDMONT FIVE

"Down but not out. That is how our varsity basketball team feels. Yes, down, but the old fight still prevails. Such is the situation on the eve of our second game with Piedmont, Friday, February the first. Having already tasted defeat at the hands of the Highlanders the Cornhuskers are waiting with grim determination to get at the foe. Our cage team has not had much success this year, but Coach Regli and his boys are working hard. To date, an effective offense has not been displayed; however we have a steady defense. The shooting eyes of our boys seem sort of dim, but when they get the range of the basket there are going to be fireworks.

Piedmont, on the other hand, has a fine team, already having two or three league games

BASEBALL PROSPECTS PROMISING FOR YEAR

It is almost time for baseball to make its debut which ranks next in line to its big brother, football.

We are fortunate, this year, in having our old captain with us, Jim Cull. Ferry will be in fine condition to hurl this season, and the freshman class has many promising substitutes to stop all the hits that he doesn't let the other fellows make. The brother of our old star, Joe Fontes, is in line for one of the bases. Fields will be behind the bat, as usual.

behind it, one of which is our school.

Our boys deserve credit for the hard games they play, as well as Coach Regli, who is trying hard to put basketball back among the big sports in our High School. Don't forget the game today at the Piedmont Gym. Lets get behind our team, and boost it one hundred percent.

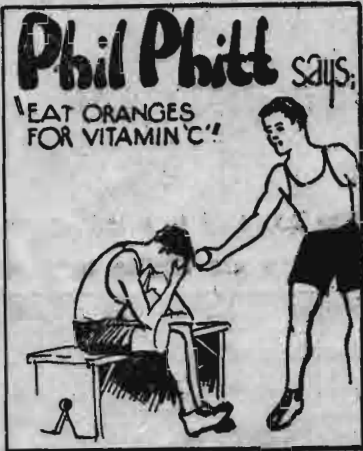

The probable starting line up for Washington will be:

Forwards—Cull, Katoka or Ichisaka.

Center—Wright.

Guards—Fields and Leonardo.

Oh, this horrible home-nurs-

Altogether, with plenty of fresh material, and a cracker-jack coach, this baseball season should bring many victories into camp for Washington Hi.

The following is the baseball schedule:

Friday, March 15.—Washington vs. Emeryville at Emeryville.

Friday, March 22.—Washington vs. Hayward at Washington.

Tuesday, March 26.—Washington vs. Berkeley at Washington.

Friday, March 29.—Washington vs. Alameda at Alameda.

Tuesday, April 9.—Washington vs. Emeryville at Washington.

Friday, April 12.—Open.

Tuesday, April 16.—Washington vs. Hayward at Hayward.

Friday, April 19.—Washington vs. Berkeley at Berkeley.

Tuesday, April 23.—Washington vs. Alameda at Washington.

Friday, May 4.—Alameda County at Contra Costa County.

WASHINGTON LOOSE TO HAYWARD IN FIRST GAME

Snowed under by a strong offense, and just as strong defense, the Cornhuskers, after invading the rival's camp, lost the tilt to the Hayward Farmers by the convincing score of 17-3, on January 22.

Although handicapped by not having sufficient practice, the Black and Orange warriors, putting up a hard battle, were holding the stronger opponents down with a score of 5-2 at the end of the first half.

Hayward, using a strange formation, attempted to fool us, but our guards were a bulwark on defense, time after time checking the Farmers when they were seemingly off for a goal. The guards played a better game than in previous ones.

Power was lacking on the offense side, however, as no field goal was accounted for by the team. In fact the Cornhuskers made very few attempts for the basket, and when tried, they showed a lack of ability to make the shots count. Several times they had the opportunity to increase the score, only to miss the basket.

This was the best game played

GIRLS SPORTS

Oh! this horrible home-nursing. I wish it would stop raining. Miss McMillan, I can't study; I have a headache."

These are some of the cries of the Physical Education girls as they have to continue their study of home-nursing because of unfavorable weather conditions. Rain has hindered sports to a great extent, for the ground is too wet for outdoor exercise to take place. Also vaccination made it impossible for some girls to play for a time but now it's effects have almost disappeared.

Speedball competition was supposed to be finished shortly after Christmas, but has now been postponed to a later date.

If the clouds clear away, volleyball games will soon be the feature of the physical education classes. The girls are already trying to practice.

For a change in their recreation program the third and fourth period classes, a couple of weeks ago, went on a short hike to Centerville and back.

so far. It showed an improvement in the defense, although a little slacking on the offense.

The giant center, Wright, captained the game. Other members forming the team were: Leonardo, Wright, Hotchkiss, Sato, Hirota, Wyatt, Kataoka, Lawlor, and Ichisatka.

TOOK A CHANCE

AND he came through nobly. Nearly every person "take a chance" some time or another

But taking chances where insurance protection is concerned is never worth the risk. Neither is it necessary.

Sooner or later you will be in need of insurance and we will gladly advise you, and make sure you're not taking chances in any direction.
